To the Editor of the Whig Standard:

SIR: Under the influence of the opinion that the article in the National Intelligencer of yesterday morning signed "One of the Sovereigns," may be conceived to be of too insignificant and of too mean and despicable a spirit to entitle it to the honor of a notice, I will, (for fear the author may construe a general silence into approbation of his sentiments,) so far notice it, and as a Whig, to enter a protest against such servile sentiments and principles as is attempted to be inculcated in it. When I read the attempted rebuke so artfully covered up, "that our most politic course, would be to refrain from holding meetings" on any occasion in relation to national political questions, but at the same time each one adopt such a mode as he chose, silently, or by journeying into the States, and do his might for the party having his preference; but when in the District, the whole population uniting cordially, cheerfully, and courteously, in all honorable endeavors to make all connected with the administration of the General Government happy, contented—nay, delighted. Then my word for it, sir, would the District see her palmy days, such as the founders prophesied, and expected ere this." I came to the conclusion that some way had abstracted my paper, and placed the Globe in lieu of it, and to satisfy myself turned over the paper to look at the head, to see that I had not been imposed upon.

Can such sentiments meet with a response from the editors of the National Intelligencer? Do they sanction by giving them currency—by publishing them? Can a WHIG Mayor approve them? For one, when it becomes necessary, in order to enjoy "our palmy days" that we should become the mere slaves of power—fawning, servile, sycophantic creatures of every body who may be clothed with a little brief authority—"to bow down and beg, and eschew all principle, except that of base sycophancy and idolatry, to obtain justice and right, when it becomes necessary so to act, for one, I am prepared, not "silently to journey (or steal) into the States, and do my might for the party having my preferences," but boldly to stand forth and sound the alarm—to proclaim to my fellow-countrymen, that here, yea, here under the very shadow of the Temple of Liberty, Freedom of Opinion has been destroyed; Liberty of Speech has been hushed; the great right for which our fathers fought—peaceably to assemble and declare our grievances—is no longer to be exercised—we are SLAVES.

The craven heart that dictated the paragraph quoted above from the Intelligencer, will meet with no response from the Whigs of this city—a city which has been steadily Whig under every change of the political sky; but we will teach tyrants that we will "not lick the hands that forge the chains"—we will show them "that under the shadow of the throne, the throb of liberty still beats on!" And though our votes cannot be felt at the ballot box, our countrymen, the descendants of a Washington, a Hancock, and a Warren, have an open ear to our complaint, and a willing heart to right our wrongs.

A FREEMAN.

More than three hundred years have now elapsed since the medicinal qualities of Sarsaparilla has been known, and from that period until the present, various plans have been devised to make a perfect extraction of all its medicinal properties, but to our knowledge no preparation has come so near the standard of perfection as that of the Messrs. Sands. Their valuable Sarsaparilla is now celebrated throughout the length and breadth of our land, and is held in the highest estimation, by the medicinal profession generally. Various interesting and remarkable cures attest its virtues, and we would advise all afflicted with impurity of the blood, scrofulous or chronic affections to make a trial of this great Purifier of the corporeal man.—N. Y. Sunday Mercury, June 16, 1844.

LOCAL NEWS.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The return of the National Anniversary is fast approaching; and as yet we have heard of no steps for a public celebration in the city. Our friends in the neighborhood have been more active, and the patriotic Whigs of Bladensburg and Alexandria are making extensive preparations for grand Whig anniversary dinners. We suppose that a large portion of the Whigs of our city will be present at the Bladensburg Spa, or at the Four Mile run jubilee, and lend their aid in the furtherance of the good cause, and in rolling the "Great Whig Ball." Should not the Clay Club take the necessary steps to perfect some arrangement for the conveyance of the Whigs to these places?

Another pleasant mode of passing the day is offered to our citizens in our paper of to-day, in an excursion on the Potomac to Aquia creek, in the commodious steamer Sydney; stopping at Fort Washington, and passing in view of Mount Vernon, the sacred resting place of the remains of the "Great and Good." The Marine Band and cotillon music will be on board; and those participating in this excursion may rely upon a pleasant one.

ACCIDENT.—A horse and cart engaged in hauling sand from the wharf on Sixth street, opposite our office, on yesterday, was precipitated into the Canal, while backing up for a load. With considerable difficulty the horse was rescued. A friend at our elbow suggests the propriety of the city authorities ordering the deposit of sand, &c., at a little greater distance from the edge of the Canal, and which would prevent the occurrence of similar casualties. We suggest it to their consideration.

GEORGETOWN CLAY CLUB.—A meeting of the Georgetown Clay Club will be held this evening at the Club room, (Cruikshank's,) at 8 o'clock.

FOURTH OF JULY EXCURSION, AND COTILLON PARTY TO FORT WASHINGTON, MOUNT VERNON, AND BOWEN'S PAVILION, AQUA CREEK.—The large and splendid steamer, SYDNEY, Capt. NEVITT, will leave Snoot's wharf, Georgetown, on the morning of the 4th, at 7 o'clock, the City at 9, Blackburn's wharf, Navy Yard, at 9, and Alexandria at 10 o'clock. The boat will stop a sufficient time at Fort Washington for passengers to view the fortifications, late improvements on the place, &c. The boat will pass Mount Vernon, and proceed to Aqua Creek, and will return to the city by 9 o'clock the same evening. Arrangements have been made with the proprietor of the above place to furnish dinners and a good supply of fish, crabs, oysters, &c. There will be a splendid cotillon on board for those who prefer it, and a plentiful supply of Confectionary, Ice Creams, &c., under the direction of Mr. Lafon, and can be had at a fair charge. Those wishing to be of the party, will be on board in time, as the boat will positively leave at the above-named hours. The Marine Band will be in attendance, as also a Cotillon Band, which cannot be surpassed in the District. Tickets, admitting a lady and gentlemen, $1; extra ladies and children's tickets, 50 cents—to be obtained at Harrington's Hotel, Navy Yard, at Gilman's Drug Store, Washington, of Capt. Nevitt, Alexandria, and at the boat on the morning of the 4th. je24-eo3t&dt
